Drivers left deflated after road hazard causes dozens of punctures

A PERILOUS pothole has brought misery to motorists travelling through Harlow after tyres on more than 30 vehicles were punctured in the same evening.

ice station on London Road to change their wheels after hitting the crater on the stretch of A414 currently undergoing major works.

Simon Russell had spent the evening shopping in the town and was heading home to Chigwell when his car struck the hole.

"I just heard this loud bang and the car started pulling one way," he said. "There was no way of avoiding it as the carriageway had been narrowed and coned off by workmen.

"Luckily there was a garage a few hundred yards ahead so I pulled in to check for damage.

My tyre was completely flat."

But as he attempted to repair his wheel with a kit supplied with the car, he noticed more and more people pulling into the service station with punctures.

"It was crazy," he said. "There seemed to be a constant stream of cars pulling onto the fore-

Man made threat to stab opponent

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertssexnews.co.uk

AN end-of-season celebration at Harlow Cricket Club turned sour after a man taking part in an impromptu football match threatened to stab an opponent, a court heard.

As the play began to get rougher, James Lee-Sang was alleged to have said "let's play by prison rules" before attempting to headbutt Rehman Ahmed.

He was also said to have produced a kubotan – a close-quarters self-defence weapon illegal in this country – and threatened to use it against Mr Ahmed.

Lee-Sang, from Canvey Island, pleaded guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court to using threatening behaviour and possession of an offensive weapon. He was remanded in custody until March 5 for pre-sentence reports.

Sasha Bailey, prosecuting, told the court the incident took place at the cricket club's ground at Chippingfield, Old Harlow, on September 13 last year following the final game of the season.

Mr Ahmed had played in the match and then joined a barbeque afterwards. He then went to play football and Lee-Sang joined in, but started tackling in what Miss Bailey described as "a more aggressive manner" before suggesting the game was played by prison rules.

"Mr Ahmed took it to mean no rules and others didn't want to play that way for fear of getting hurt," said Miss Bailey.

"As the defendant approached, Mr Ahmed got out of the way and then Lee-Sang fell over. He got up and said 'I'll shank you'."

"Mr Ahmed thought he saw a shiny object which made him believe he would be stabbed. Lee-Sang went towards Mr Ahmed and, trying to headbutt him, caught his face causing slight pain to his nose."

"Lee-Sang said 'I don't care if I go to prison as a result as long as I stab you'. Mr Ahmed said he didn't want trouble; he'd gone to play a cricket match."

'Stunning' sculpture graces entrance to new Leisurezone

A STRIKING new sculpture of a running woman now takes pride of place outside the entrance to Harlow's soon-to-open Leisurezone. Created by contemporary sculptor Clare Bigger, the 6.5-metre tall stainless steel model has been placed on the mini roundabout directly in front of the multi-million pound sports complex.

Clare was selected from a pool of 12 artists asked by Harlow District Sports Trust to submit plans for a sculpture sympathetic to the design and function of the new building. HDST board member Richard Little said: "We're delighted with the sculpture conceived and created by Clare."

"In addition to creating a stunning icon at the entrance to Leisurezone, it reflects the wide range of recreational activities that will take place inside this exciting new building and will add to the exceptional collection of sculpture in the town."

"We're grateful to Harlow Arts Trust and the council for their assistance with the selection and procurement process."

POLICE investigating a number of burglaries at the homes of elderly people in Harlow are asking for help to identify two suspects.

The culprits – two women – tricked their way into the homes of their victims homes by pretending their car had broken down and asking for a jug of water.

It was only after they left that the victims discovered items were missing from their homes.

The four incidents took place between Friday, January 22 and Monday, February 15 at properties in School Lane, Ladyshot and Latton Hall Close. The victims were aged 89, 60, 95 and 70.

Detective Constable Donna Clark, of Harlow police, said: "These are really appalling crimes committed against vulnerable people who are just being kind by agreeing to help."

"We need assistance from the public to identify the women responsible and stop this from happening again. I'd also be very keen to hear from anyone who has been approached under similar circumstances."

Local crime reduction officer Graham Anthony advised residents to be on their guard and think carefully before letting strangers into their homes.

"Keep front and back doors locked, and don't open the door to people you're not expecting," he said. "Always use a door chain and don't be panicked into letting someone in, even if they say it's urgent."

Police appeal for witnesses to incident outside club

A MAN was taken to hospital after he was found at the bottom of a stairwell outside a Harlow nightclub.

The 21-year-old was discovered near The Clubhouse, in The Rows, shortly before 3am on Saturday.

He was first taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital before being transferred to Queen's Hospital in Romford where his condition is described as stable.

Police have launched an investigation into the incident and want to talk to anyone who saw what happened during the time leading up to the discovery.

Anyone with information should contact Detective Sergeant Martin Read at Harlow CID on 0300 333 4444.

More of town's students go into higher education

THE number of students in the Harlow area going on to higher education has rocketed by 50 per cent in 12 years.

Figures for the 2008-09 academic year show that 1,615 of the town's residents were studying at undergraduate and post-graduate levels compared to 1,080 in 1997.

The Harlow constituency is now in the top 20 per cent most improved areas in the UK during that 12-year period.

"This is great news," said MP Bill Rammell, a former higher education minister. "These figures show a marked increase in the number of Harlow residents being able to access higher education and aspiring to study at this level.

"This shows the Labour Government's drive to increase access to higher education in areas like Harlow, where historically numbers going on to study higher education has been quite low, is proving successful."

He added the figure would continue to rise with the opening of the Anglia Ruskin University campus on the Harlow College site by 2011.

"Harlow residents will be able to study for degree courses on their own doorstep," he added.

Obama stepmum at charity launch

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

KEZIA Obama, the stepmother of US President Barack, was in Harlow on Saturday for the launch of a new charity.

The Disability Empowerment Association is the brainchild of Harlow Paralympian Anne Wafula Strike and has been set up to help disabled people achieve their goals through art, dance, creative writing, IT skills and sport.

"The aim is to show that disability does not mean inability," said Anne. "We want people who are disabled to achieve their goals and at the same time become more integrated into the community."

"If they can play just one note on one instrument then that's an achievement and they can gain confidence from it."

The charity will initially cover

Essex but Anne has plans to expand the project across the country and even organise an exchange programme between the UK and African countries.

She invited Mrs Obama to become a patron.

Visitors attending the launch event at Passmore School were treated to a programme of dance, music and fashion, kicking off with a traditional Indian dance performed by Footworks School of Dance.

Youngsters from Makin' Steps dance school, inclusive dance group Dance 21 and the Efa Sey Dae Academy all put on dazzling displays of their own, while music was provided by local saxophonist Adam Amor, musician Noah Keya and DJ Lopo T.

"The day was fantastic," said Anne. "There were some performances that really moved everyone watching."

Forms bungle hits cash vote

THE deadline for people to have their say on how a £100,000 community grant should be spent has been extended after it emerged many residents had not received ballot papers.

Households in Potter Street and Church Langley had been asked to choose between three local projects nominated for the cash from Essex County Council's People's Community Chest.

But with Saturday's deadline for votes fast approaching, the Star has been told that many households have yet to even receive their voting forms.

Publicity material advertising the poll also incorrectly stated that voters could opt for the cash to be used to extend Church Langley Community Centre.

Mark Spraggins, co-organiser of

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertsexnews.co.uk

the bid, said: "It's a joke. How are people going to know they have a say if they've not even been sent a form?"

"And the information about Church Langley Community Centre is simply wrong. The extension is going ahead using other funds and has never been part of the application.

"The Community Chest money would only be used to improve facilities."

The poll has been described by Councillor John Jowers, the council's cabinet member for localism and planning, as "democracy working at its best".

Ballot papers were supposed to have been posted through letterboxes in the week beginning February 8.

A spokeswoman for the county council said that the voting deadline had now been put back to Saturday, March 13 and laid the blame on the distribution firm responsible for delivering the forms.

"There have been some issues with the distribution of ballot papers," she said. "The company responsible had absolutely assured me that they had been delivered but it turned out they had gone out later."

She added that new publicity material had been amended to remove inaccurate information and the voting form is also available to download from the authority's website.

Residents are being given the choice of projects upgrading Church Langley Community Centre, improving Brenthall and Barnsley Woods or helping to build a clubhouse for the South East Harlow Sports and Youth Association.

Forms can be downloaded from the 'how to vote' section at www.essex.gov.uk/community_chest.

Addresses given on the forms will be collated to stop households voting twice.

OAP shouted racist abuse at bus driver

A PENSIONER who racially abused a bus driver and struck his vehicle with a metal bar has been given a suspended prison sentence.

Retired taxi driver Anthony McGovern (74), of Hollyfield, Harlow, called Anthony Campbell a "black bastard" during a confrontation in Ware.

Gavin Pottinger, prosecuting at St Albans Crown Court, said the incident happened on September 3 last year when McGovern was in a white Astra being driven by his wife.

"The defendant complained he had been cut up by the bus driver," said Mr Pottinger. "The driver admitted he had pulled out in front of the car and was subjected to a tirade of racist abuse."

McGovern then fetched the metal bar from a golf trolley and used it to strike the perspex partition separating Mr Campbell from the rest of the bus.

Mr Pottinger said that when Mr Campbell told him the case would end up in court, McGovern replied: "I don't care. I am going to come down the depot and kill you."

McGovern, who pleaded guilty to racially aggravated threatening behaviour, appeared in court on Friday for sentence.

Graham Jones, appearing for McGovern, said in mitigation he was of previous good character and had never having been in trouble before.

"It was not racially motivated, it was not because he was black," said Mr Jones.

Recorder Bruce Coleman, who sentenced McGovern to six months' jail suspended for two years and ordered him to pay Mr Campbell £100, said: "This was an utterly disgraceful incident."

Don't just bin it, bag it

HUNDREDS of old household items have been recycled following the re-launch of a service for unwanted goods.

The quarterly collections of clothing, batteries and small electronic items started two weeks ago – and already items have flooded in.

When the collections were first launched, around 2,500 bags were picked up, boosting the town's recycling levels.

Items included textiles, footwear, batteries, bags, towels, household linen, radios and CD players.

Items are picked up by the Harlow-based Environmental Conservation Co-operative (ECCO) as part of Harlow Council's waste contract with Veolia.

Tony Hall, chairman of the council's environment and community committee, said this week: "It's important we recycle as much as we can to protect the environment and reduce landfill costs." Pictured with some of the latest bags of items for recycling are Julie Quinlin, Nick Johnson, Sean Folan and Mr Hall.

Anger at closure of Briars centre

A RESIDENTS' group which regularly uses a popular community centre has accused Harlow Council of shutting it down "out of spite".

Aelfeva House – otherwise known as 190 The Briars – will close on March 31 and will be returned to general needs council housing stock as a two-bedroom home after the authority decided it was underused.

But Sally Sambridge, chairwoman of the ABC Residents' Association, claimed the closure highlighted the Conservative administration's determination to stifle the efforts of her group to provide a voice for those living on the three estates it represents – Aylets Field, The Briars and Copshall Close.

"We at ABC feel as though the council is continually trying to stop us from doing anything for this community," she said. "Last year we were forced to hold a meeting outside in the rain because the council would not let us use the building."

"This is just the latest example of their determination to frustrate us.

"The residents of the three estates have never been consulted on the closure of what is actually a very popular and well-used community centre."

"We have many disabled and elderly residents in our community. Where are they meant to go for coffee mornings, over-50s clubs and other social events now?"

According to the council's budget calculations, the closure of the centre is expected to save the authority £2,560. But the Star has been told it could cost upwards of £10,000 to convert the building back to a residential property.

Councillor Lee Dangerfield, chairman of the council's housing committee, said the authority did not have the money to continue providing the building to community groups for free.

"The council no longer has the resources to provide the building for free community use and the building is vastly underused."

"Therefore we feel a two-bedroom property would serve a far better purpose as a home for someone on the council's housing register."

When the going gets Gruff . . .

FICTIONAL favourite the Gruffalo drew a large crowd of children to Harlow Library when he popped in for a play session.

The youngsters enjoyed making masks, taking part in a treasure hunt and doing other activities on a Gruffalo theme. But the highlight for most was a visit from the hairy beast himself.

"Some of the children thought they were going to be scared when they saw the Gruffalo but they weren't," said duty supervisor Heather Ancient.

"They were absolutely amazed! It was a really good turn out so there was a real buzz."

court with flat tyres. I had counted more than 30 cars by the time I left at around 11.30pm."

Mr Russell contacted Essex County Council's highways department to make them aware of the problem but claimed it took hours for repair crews to fix the problem.

"Because my car did not come supplied with a spare wheel I had to book a taxi to take me home that night and then return the following morning to get my wheel replaced. It ended up costing me almost £100 in total."

An Essex Police spokeswoman confirmed a number of calls had been received from motorists using the A414 and said that officers attending the scene had coned the pothole off to protect drivers from damaging their vehicles.

A County Hall spokeswoman said that a team had been dispatched to the scene as soon as the authority was made aware of the problem, but admitted a second crew had to be called out as the first crew had been unable to complete repairs due to the atrocious weather conditions.

"To ensure that people travelling along the road were safe, highways officers attended the scene and carried out a temporary repair that evening despite the bad weather," she said.

"Our teams of engineers are working across the county to carry out as many repairs as possible in order to keep our roads in the condition that our residents expect and deserve."

Brave Alfie (5) is a little star

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE courage of a five-year-old Harlow boy who learned to walk again after undergoing from debilitating treatment for cancer has been rewarded.

Alfie Pavitt, of Primrose Field, was nominated for the Cancer Research UK Little Star Awards by mum Sharon and dad Alex after he was diagnosed with acute lymphoblastic leukaemia at the age of two.

Alfie started a course of intensive chemotherapy, a treatment made worse by the fact that he has a needle phobia.

Mum Sharon said: "Alfie was absolutely terrified. He was very wary of the doctors and nurses. "He would hide under the bed and growl at them and he became quite aggressive towards me because of the steroids he was on."

Things changed when a Hickman line catheter relinquished the need for a needle but because of his treatment Alfie was unable to walk for seven months.

He is still receiving chemotherapy but has learnt to walk and swim again and even ride a bike.

"Alfie has been through such a lot but he has plenty of determination and doesn't let much stand in his way," said Sharon. "We are extremely proud of him.

"He is amazingly cheerful. He

knows he has got leukaemia and has some limitations but it doesn't let much stop him. He loves school, he loves swimming and drawing and Star Wars. And he and his brother Jordan are mad about Arsenal!"

As a winner of a Little Star Award, Alfie received a star-shaped chrome trophy and a certificate signed by celebrities including X Factor star Leona Lewis and Usain Bolt, the world's fastest man. The prize also included a £50 TK Maxx gift voucher which he spent on Harry Potter items and some Lego for brother Jordan (10).

Lynn Daly, Cancer Research UK's representative in Essex, said: "Alfie is a sparkling Little Star and richly deserves this award."

Abseilers wanted

A NATIONAL disability charity is looking for thrillseekers willing to take part in the annual Church Langley Water Tower abseil for charity.

The 110ft abseil, organised by the Rotary Club of Harlow Tye, takes place in May and Motability wants volunteers to complete the challenge on its behalf.

Aine Canavan, Motability's projects co-ordinator, said: "Every year we need to raise over £1m to help disabled people achieve independence with an adapted car or to fund lessons for young disabled drivers.

"Over previous years we have raised almost £2,000 from this event but we need people to get involved and abseil for Motability to raise more."

Although no experience is necessary as instructors will be available on the day, volunteers must be aged 16 or over to take part. Spaces are limited so if you would like to take part on behalf of Motability contact Aine Canavan on (01279) 632258.

Foodbank's plea

VOLUNTEERS from Harlow Foodbank will be at Sainsbury's store in Fifth Avenue, Harlow, on Saturday to collect donations of non-perishable items which will then be given to people facing hardship.

Director of community services Gary Knott said: "The current economic climate means more and more people are struggling to put food on the table, so we really need local citizens to give what they can to help."

The volunteers will be at the store from 9am-4pm.

Boxing night bash

THE Harlow-based President's Sporting Club will hold its next fundraising event – a gentlemen's boxing evening – at the Manor of Groves Hotel near Sawbridgeworth.

Celebrity guests including Sir Henry Cooper, Frank Bruno, John Conteh, Steve Collins and Charlie Magri will attend the charity gala on Monday, March 1.

So far the charity has raised more than £1m for schools and organizations to provide sporting facilities and opportunities for disabled children.

Pub gets shirty to support charity football campaign

A PUB in Old Harlow is asking customers for their old football shirts to help disadvantaged children at home and abroad.

The Marquis of Granby is backing the charity campaign Project Fair Play which provides youngsters with football facilities.

Donated shirts will be sent to the Ukhanyo School in Masiphumelele, South Africa where they will be given to underprivileged children.

The pub, in Fore Street, is also one of 100 independent pubs which have joined forces to raise cash for a new sports ground at the school and kit it out with 500 footballs.

Pub manager Jon Tummons, pictured, said: "Knowing how much our customers love their football, we're sure there's going to be no shortage of old shirts coming out of the closet for the shirt amnesty!" Project Fair Play also aims to buy Fairtrade footballs to help sports projects for disabled and disadvantaged children in the UK through the charity KidsOut.

HOLY CROSS: Youngsters were forever young for a day at the Tracys Road pre-school as they enjoyed a Peter Pan-themed day for charity.

More than 50 children and 10 staff donned fancy dress to collect £444 for the Great Ormond Street Hospital in London.

The money was raised from the sale of DVD copies of the pre-school's magical Christmas stage adaptation of the JM Barrie story, which was reproduced on the day by the children.

There was also a raffle and coin collection box in the form of an old sweet tub.

"It's a very good result for us," said pre-school spokeswoman Ann Tierney. "We have a day like this every year and we pick a charity that fits in with children. This one also fitted in with our topic of superheroes."

MARK HALL: Year 11 pupils got the chance to find out more about life as a sixth-former when A-Level students from Harlow College dropped in for a visit. Five students from WESTVIC, the college's sixth form centre, held an informal question and answer session with pupils preparing to move up to the next level. WESTVIC deputy head Louise Turner explained: "Choosing where to study A-levels is a big decision. WESTVIC is very different from school, the structure is different, the subjects are different and there's no uniform. It can seem a little daunting. "We felt that if the pupils could ask questions in small groups from our own students, they'd feel better informed and reassured that they were getting the right information." Last year nearly 3,000 prospective students applied to Harlow College and in recent months the college has experienced unprecedented visitor numbers at open evenings. "Open evenings are really important", explained Louise, "but with so many visitors it's difficult to ensure that everyone's questions are answered. We can address that by getting our own students to visit their old schools." (s)

HENRY MOORE: Teaching assistants at the Kiln Lane primary proved they know their onions when it comes to speaking French after being awarded beginners' certificates in the language.

It was all part of a training initiative for school support staff in preparation for the National Languages Strategy's introduction of language learning for all pupils in Key Stage 2.

French speaker and tutor Isabelle Walpole said: "They have not been doing French for long but have already made a lot of progress.

"I really enjoy working with them because they are so enthusiastic."

The project, run by Essex Adult Community Learning, is now in its third year and has allowed primary schools across the county to take up the offer of free language training for support staff. (s)

SCHOOLGATE NURSERY: Children proved to be a dab hand with chop sticks as they celebrated the Chinese New Year with oriental treats.

The toddlers have been learning about the beliefs and culture of the Chinese community. Their celebration of the Year of the Tiger culminated included decorating the home corner at the nursery with lanterns, woks and other items.

The children also wore oriental outfits and listened to stories from the Far East, but the highlight was the chance to taste food supplied by Potter Street takeaway Fung Kitchen.

Nursery manager Anita Parrish said: "The children loved the topic and they are very creative so they enjoyed making things.

"But the food, particularly the chicken chow mein, was clearly their favourite and several of them really dealt with the chop sticks excellently. We were very impressed."

IN Harlow's fledgling years, the masterminds behind its construction were determined that the New Town would not just attract working class city dwellers.

With the blueprint for a new settlement of up to 80,000 people in the Essex countryside and amenities for all, they knew the town would have to have a much wider appeal.

Back in the mid 1950s a plan was drawn up to build estates with homes for sale rather than rent. "Such a town must cater for all classes within the community, including those who wish to own their own house," said publicity material put out at time by Harlow Development Corporation.

"This [scheme] is merely the first of several which will be developed later, offering outstanding opportunities to people of the middle income group."

The first was a 90-home development on one of the highest points in the town and was once part of the grounds of Parndon Hall, the former seat of the Arkwright family.

The sales pitch touts views across the Stort Valley and its proximity to woodlands, playing fields, 300-odd shops, the town centre and Burnt Mill rail station.

Local historian Ron Bill, who at that time was on the corporation's sales team, said: "In 1955 the corporation was asked by the Government to test the private market in Harlow and build one area for sale. This became Upper Park and was successfully sold in 1957/58. It was very successful and was repeated at Brook Lane Field."

Potential buyers were enticed to visit a show home with adverts such as one in the Harlow Gazette in April 1958. The most common style home in the development was a three-bedroom semi-detached house, according to the brochure.

The plush home boasted a lounge and dining rooms with bay and French windows respectively and a balcony for the main bedroom. The kitchen has space for a state-of-the-art fridge and washing machine and had covered access to the garage, fuel stores and dustbin.

And all this for a modest price of just £2,550 with a 999-year lease – a price to make today's first-time buyers green with envy!

Can you solve the mystery of photo?

THIS week we are calling on our army of readers to solve the mystery surrounding this photograph of soldiers marching in Old Harlow?

The picture was provided by local historian Ron Bill. He is not 100 per cent sure when the picture was taken or what event the march was marking, although he knows it was in Mulberry Green.

"It could've been taken in 1945 to mark the end of the war," he said. "On the other hand it could be some other event such as the Coronation."

If you know anything about the picture then email the details to daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk or write to Nostalgia, Harlow Star, 6 West

STUART AGNEW MEP
Strasbourg -
February 2010

Your New Masters Confirmed

Your all powerful new government, the 27 Commissioners who are the sole originators of all EU legislation, were voted in by 488 to 137 with 72 abstentions.

Eight "served" in Communist administrations. Five have hopelessly inadequate CVs, one is under a financial cloud and another has been accused of misusing political power.

The Lib Dem and Labour MEPs tamely supported the installation of our new masters. The Tories pointlessly abstained. UKIP voted against.

A UKIP motion for a debate on the disgraceful treatment of the British and other investors in Spanish property was heavily defeated.

The Parliament voted to take the accession of Croatia, Macedonia and Turkey a stage further, bringing closer the spectre of crime rings and more unlimited immigration for Britain.

Jobs crackdown hailed a success

By CHRIS MOSS
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A JOINT police and council crackdown on anti-social behaviour in a Harlow neighbourhood by targeting persistent offenders have reaped dividends.

Police, working closely with both Essex County Council and Harlow Council, have successfully cut crime and prosecuted key ringleaders responsible for anti-social behaviour in The Stow.

Before Operation Impact began, the area was a crime hotspot and home to the highest level of reported incidences of anti-social behaviour in the town.

But intensive policing, an increased number of CCTV cameras and the introduction of a range of new facilities – including kick walls and improved street lighting – have seen reported incidents fall by 86 per cent.

The successful prosecution of persistent offenders has also resulted in several people receiving anti-social behaviour orders.

Councillor Lee Dangerfield, chairman of Harlow Council's housing committee, said: "This operation has been a great success and has had a hugely positive impact on the local community.

"The legacy left behind will ensure the benefits are long term and the troublemakers don't return as soon as the police have gone. It's a great example of what partnership working can achieve."

Chief Inspector Nick Morris, district commander for the Harlow division, added: "This positive reduction in anti-social behaviour demonstrates the partnership's commitment to improve issues within the community.

"It places the power back into people's hands to feel confident that their concerns and information are being listened to and action is being taken."

From leaking heat to making money, why loft insulation is a money spinner

Nearly half of UK homes waste an average of £150 of heat through their roofs every year just because they don't have enough loft insulation.

But improving your insulation doesn't just knock down your energy bills and make your home cosier. Many homeowners have found that clearing their loft can give their budget a boost as they turn unwanted items into cash from the attic.

"We did a clear-out in our maisonette," says homeowner Will Rowberry. "It was hugely satisfying and made us money. A coat we'd inherited fetched nearly £200 at a local secondhand clothes shop. We've also taken old pictures and furniture to an auction house so we'll get another wedge of cash once they've been sold!"

There are many places which can help you turn attic clutter into cash. After all, one man's trash is another's treasure. Old wedding dresses net owners about half of their sale price on free listing sites like Preevolved. Secondhand books and CDs can earn upwards of 50p-a-piece, and boxes of old children's clothes and toys go for £5-£50 on internet auction sites.

Meanwhile, everything from tools, clothes and knick-knacks can be turned into cash at car boot sales. Alternatively, you can give away unwanted items to charity shops or through exchange networks like Freecycle and Freegle.

Research by the Energy Saving Trust has shown that a quarter of the heat in an uninsulated house is lost through the roof and another third through the walls.

Across the UK, 13 million homes have less than the recommended loft insulation of 270mm. It costs around £250 for a specialist to fit it, but bringing your insulation up to this standard will cut your fuel bills for many years to come. You could also save £115 a year by insulating your wall cavities. This only takes a couple of hours and can be done from outside your property.

The costs of installing loft or cavity wall insulation pay for themselves within several years. And that doesn't include the money you can make from Most homes don't have enough insulation, even though this can reduce heating bills and CO₂ emissions.

Cavity wall insulation is one of the simplest ways to insulate your home and could save you up to £115 a year in heating costs.

It might cost less than you think to install – offers are available to help with the cost, and for some it's absolutely free.

Who turned out the light?

A CARELESS cat who got her head stuck in an empty can of her favourite food somehow managed to find her way to an animal rescue centre to get help.

Despite having the can lodged firmly over her head and not being able to see, the fortunate feline found her way to an animal rescue centre in the Scottish town of Fife without getting hurt.

Staff at the centre were amazed the cat had not been hit by a car. After safely removing the can the vets checked her to make sure she was OK.

The young puss has recovered well and is now living in Edinburgh at a home for lost and abandoned pets while the charity tries to track down her owner.

Colin Seddon from the rescue centre said: "Luckily no damage was done and the little cat was very pleased to be freed from the discomfort that comes with having your head stuck inside a tin can.

"We think it's likely that she was scavenging and came across this discarded tin of cat food. She may have got the can stuck on her head and then became disorientated; it's lucky she wasn't hit by a car."

Mr Seddon added: "She is a friendly and well-looking after cat and she was wearing a distinctive black collar with bright green cats' eyes imprinted on the material.

"Because she's in such good condition we hope that she's simply lost."

I lost my brother to a silent killer

By CIARAN GOLD
star@hertssexnews.co.uk

MELISSA Matthews had just finished her dinner after a day at school when the telephone rang. Her life was about to turn upside-down.

It was the emergency services, calling to say they were outside her older brother Tony's flat in Harlow. Just 13 at the time, she had a feeling things would never be the same again.

Tony, 33, had come home from an evening out with friends. Hungry, he put some bread under the oven grill, forgot about it and went to bed. He never woke up.

Melissa, now 23 and living in Bishop's Stortford, said: "It was a complete shock. You just never ever contemplate that happening to your older brother."

On top of their grief, the Matthews family had to contend with waiting for what seemed an eternity to find out what had killed Tony.

"It took what felt like a long time for the coroner to come back with a diagnosis," said Melissa. "Because there were no real physical signs as to what had happened – you can't see, taste or smell carbon monoxide – it was just so difficult to try to establish what had actually killed him and I think that was the hardest thing for me and my family."

"At least in something like a car crash you know the cause, but we didn't know why my healthy 33-year-old brother died."

Investigations showed that Tony's grill was faulty and emitting carbon monoxide, poisoning him as he slept.

The death of her brother had a profound effect on Melissa, who up until a year ago could not bring herself to speak openly about her loss. To her surprise, when she did she found it quite "therapeutic".

"I buried all those emotions: the guilt, the anger, the upset. It's ridiculous, really, what goes through your head at that age."

"Keeping it to myself hasn't been a healthy thing; it's meant I went through a rollercoaster of emotions alone. Talking openly has been quite therapeutic, lifting a big weight off my shoulders."

Melissa, who recently marked the 10th anniversary of Tony's passing, is now backing the Carbon Monoxide – Be Alarmed! campaign, which started last month with the aim of raising awareness of the hazardous gas.

She said: "It's not like an illness where there may or may not be a cure. It's so easy to stop carbon monoxide poisoning and the way to do that is by having an audible detector alarm fitted in your house.

"When I first moved into my new house I asked the previous owners when they had their boiler last checked. When they dismissively said 'oh, never', I just wanted to yell at them."

According to findings by market research group Ipsos MORI, more than 80 per cent of us have at least one smoke alarm in our homes, but less than a quarter have an audible carbon monoxide alarm.

The campaign is pushing for legislation to be introduced that means new-builds and rented properties have to be fitted with one.

"With smoke from a fire you can feel it, smell it and sense it. But carbon monoxide can kill you without you knowing," said Melissa.

"I'm really hoping that people take this on board and go out to pick up an alarm today. There might be a 13-year-old girl in the same situation, her older brother living alone somewhere. I don't want to think my brother died in vain."

Astounding arrogance

SIR, I read with disbelief the report in last week's Star about councillor Tony Hall's mistake in sending a party supporter an email describing her as stupid.

This gentleman has, of course, been in the news quite often recently due to his close involvement with the wheelee bin scheme. It was only a short time ago that, upon being questioned about the controversial party being held to celebrate the implementation of the wheelee bin debacle, replied that whatever the residents views, a lot of people had worked hard and deserved a celebration.

This from a politician elected and appointed to look after and respond to residents interests, concerns and, yes, views.

In his latest gaffe he describes the unnamed women as "shortsighted and ill-informed" as well as stupid. Indeed, if one were to canvass the Harlow area I'm quite certain that those descriptions might feature regularly in any opinion poll of the ridiculous wheelee bin scheme which has turned every Harlow neighborhood into what looks like a wheelee bin convention.

We can all look forward to the hot summer months when the odour of those bins are given a chance to develop and mature. It's hardly worth thinking about.

But back to Mr. Hall's email. He says he apologised for sending the email but "stands by his remarks generally". What does that mean? Is he saying that he does indeed feel the women is stupid but regrets sending the email telling her so? How can he get away with that as an elected official? The level of arrogance is truly astounding.

Robert Halfon then wades into the controversy by saying it was an isolated email for which he had already apologised and mistakes happen. Well let me assure you, Mr Halfon, I use email regularly and I do not describe anybody (even those I vehemently disagree with) as stupid and then circulate it in the hope that it won't be read by the wrong person.

The expenses scandal has done much to alienate our elected government officials from the general public. I can think of no other organisation where fiddling with expenses would not be seen as gross misconduct and met with immediate dismissal. But hey, this is government and they have a different set of rules – or so they think so.

Our major political parties have vowed to try to repair the damage and bridge the chasm that now exists between the regular voter and our elected officials. A shame then that nobody told Tony Hall.

Andrew Fraser
address supplied - Editor

Contempt and vanity

SIR, Many readers were probably shocked and dismayed by the insulting behaviour of councillor Tony Hall branding a Harlow resident as stupid, shortsighted and ill-informed.

He says this resident has no idea of the real world but in doing so gives us a further illustration of the arrogant world our Conservative council seeks to foster.

The sad thing is that this is by no means an isolated incident. Anyone who has sat through council meetings will know that this contempt for the people of Harlow is demonstrated time and time again. Responses to questions from the public are brushed away like irritating flies whilst petitions reflecting the mass views of Harlow citizens are greeted with disdain and used as an opportunity for pontificating and posturing.

Increasingly, people in Harlow are not being fooled by the conjuring tricks of Harlow Council. The quickness of the hand may deceive the eye but actually we're not stupid. The Tories bask in the glory of a 0% council tax increase and of course none of us like paying taxes, but for what we do pay we like to see a little return.

Yes, we all make mistakes and when people in public office do so the least we can expect is an unreserved apology, but Cllr Hall's vanity does not allow him even to do that as he maintains he stands by his remarks generally. If there was any honesty and integrity amongst Harlow's Conservatives they would probably have to spend most of their time apologising for their mistakes. Harlow deserves better than this.

Norman Knight
Pyenest Road, Harlow

MP's comments show lack of respect for our troops

SIR, It is apparent from Bill Rammell's description of his visit to Afghanistan (Star, February 18) that he has learned nothing from his attempt to convince us that weapons of mass destruction existed in Iraq.

Once again he takes the New Labour line about our need to be still involved in George Bush's long-running war. According to Bill, the new Karzai government represents the will of the Afghan people. In fact, as he knows, only one third of the country was able to vote in the recent elections and an official United Nations investigation found that almost one in every three votes cast for President Karzai in the first round was fraudulent.

They said we will never know the full extent of the fraud. Hardly the will of the people.

The annual Transparency International Corruption Index of 180 countries rates Afghanistan the second most corrupt country in the world, only just above Somalia and two below Iraq. Corruption is a way of life in Afghanistan, particularly in government, despite Bill attempting to gloss over the problem.

When he accepted the traditional hospitality of the Gurkas and ate their curry to the sound of their bagpipes, perhaps he should have reflected that only a few short months earlier it took a massive campaign by Joanna Lumley to get him and his government to agree to allow Gurkas who had fought and put their life on the line for Britain an automatic right to settle in the country.

More recently he publicly defended his own ministry for going to the Court of Appeal to claw back increased compensation payments awarded by the courts to severely injured soldiers. The Government claimed they should only be compensated for the original injuries and loss of limbs and not for subsequent complications. Only outrage by the voters forced them to perform a U-turn. So much for his admiration of the Armed Forces.

We have been in Afghanistan for nearly nine years, longer than the Second World War. So far 263 British personnel have been killed, hundreds mutilated, casualties increase day after day and Mr Rammell insists we have to see this through.

The reasons we have to see this through vary from month to month. Last month it was to prevent terrorism in western countries. When this explanation by Gordon Brown was blown out of the water by the admission that the failed attempt to blow up an American jet on Christmas Day was because of Western involvement in Afghanistan we are told that it is to help stabilise Pakistan.

I realise Mr Rammell faces a very difficult election in a couple of months time but he should stop treating the voters of Harlow as idiots and show some respect for our troops.

David Pugh
Copse Hill, Harlow

Tax freeze fair for all

SIR, The only lack of clarity over our budget proposals exist in the mind of Ian Beckett (Letters, February 18). I therefore welcome the opportunity provided by him to reiterate the benefits of our budget set against the storm of Gordon Brown's recession.

We are giving a little back to everyone by freezing council tax, using our financial management to help their finances.

We are retaining free car parking for the first hour. This encourages turnover in the car parks, enabling more people to park and shop. Free collection of bulky waste remains, but with a choice.

The alternative proposed by the Labour group offered modest additional support to the Advice Centre, which would make no practical difference as it was for one year only – and paid out of non-existent reserves. The Town Show will continue but provided in a different way. Labour's suggestion did not allocate enough money to do it properly.

It is curious Mr Beckett omitted the other services Harlow Council continues to provide, such as Pets' Corner, the Museum of Harlow, The Playhouse and paddling pools, all at the same price as last year.

Harlow Council is setting one of the lowest rent rises in the country and investing more in home insulation, putting money in the pockets of tenants not just this year but for the future.

He also didn't mention the improving recycling rates, saving thousands of pounds through lower landfill charges – a saving his party would throw away.

We want a future fair for all after 13 years of a Labour government where the rich have got richer and the poor poorer. Freezing council tax is the best way we can set about achieving that.

Councillor Simon Carter
Mark Hall Moors, Harlow

Mutually beneficial

SIR, As secretary of Harlow Co-operative Party branch, it is with some suspicion that I read of David Cameron's enthusiasm for co-operatives and the mutual sector.

Is this the same person who was a government advisor when the Conservatives abolished the national Co-operative Development Agency which over 10 years created almost 2,000 worker co-operatives?

More to the point, will he apologise for the Conservative 1986 Building Societies Act which resulted in the disappearance of more than two-thirds of that mutual sector and the disasters which overtook many former mutuals?

Of course worker co-operatives and employee-owned businesses are a good thing but public sector mutualism is also about public sector values and about the involvement of everyone – users and consumers of services as well. Mr Cameron does not mention these.

As a result of partnership between the Labour and Co-operative parties over the past 12 years there are now more than 1.5 million members of new mutuals across the public sector.

Yes, co-operatives are a good thing and increasingly successful. Let's make sure we safeguard them by keeping a Labour government.

Pat Larkin, secretary
Harlow Co-operative Party

Solar funding a stunt

SIR, Last year we heard about Government funding for solar power so we contacted the Herts and Essex Energy Partnership which administers the funding.

Over the years and with limited funding we have made some improvements to our property – cavity wall and loft insulation, a new boiler and low energy lights throughout. We have done our best with the funding we have to lower our fuel bills and protect the environment.

If your property has an SAP rating of less than 65 per cent then, under this scheme they will install all the initialisation systems to bring the SAP (Standard Assessment Procedure) rating above that. You are then not entitled to the funding for solar power.

So we have been on the list for solar power for around eight months, only to find out that the SAP rating for our house is 73 per cent. To advertise that funding is available for solar power is just a publicity stunt. Show me a property within the Harlow area on which the SAP rating is below 65 per cent and has installed solar power.

Please take the spin out of the advertising and only give facts on what will be carried out.

Job saves man from jail term

A FATHER-of-two with a lengthy criminal record has avoided jail for attempting to headbutt a police officer

Judge Karen Walden-Smith told Lee Salmon it would be "a massive understatement" to describe him as a nuisance and a pest.

Chelmsford Crown Court heard that Salmon (26) of Nicholls Field, Harlow, had 19 convictions for a total of 58 offences committed since the age of 14.

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

He appeared in court to plead guilty to possessing cannabis, assaulting a police officer and possessing criminal property.

But instead of being jailed, Salmon was given a three-month suspended sentence and ordered to carry out 100 hours of unpaid work. He was also ordered to attend the Thinking Skills and offender substance abuse programmes.

The court heard that when police found cannabis at his address on April 19 last year, Salmon tried to headbutt an officer, who ducked.

Two days later, a stolen satellite navigation system and a mobile phone were found by police at his home.

lan Boyes, representing Salmon, said in mitigation he now had a job working six days a week as a painter and decorator for his partner's father which kept him on the right side of the law.

Passing sentence, the judge said: "For someone of 26 you have been involved in the criminal justice system an unbelievable amount of times."

"You have a record of 19 convictions for 58 offences which started in 1998 and goes on until October last year. To say you're a nuisance and a pest would be reported as the massive understatement of the year. Plainly you have been out of control without thought to the consequences at the time."

However, she added: "You've started employment in September last year and it keeps you engaged for up to six days a week. You may well have been given the opportunity to turn the corner."

"Given this, I am going to give you the opportunity to move on and become a productive member of society."

Parents face court action in crackdown on truancy

ESSEX County Council has warned parents of youngsters who regularly abscond from school to expect heavy fines.

County Hall's pledge to clamp down on truancy across the county comes in the wake of the prosecution of a couple from Harlow, who were fined a total of £930 for their child's low attendance rate.

Both parents – who cannot be named for legal reasons – failed to attend court and were found guilty in their absence.

Their child – a Year 11 pupil – only attended school 67 per cent of the time between May 11 and September 11 last year.

Stephen Castle, ECC cabinet member for education said: "We always seek to address the issues behind truancy before penalising a parent and would obviously rather see children in school, with parental support, than resort to prosecution."

"However, the council is determined to clamp down on cases of excessive, persistent unauthorised absence and will not tolerate the actions of parents who do not ensure their children attend school regularly."

'Billy' cast ready to raise the roof

By CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertssexnews.co.uk

ONE of the most uplifting stories of modern times will be brought to life in The Playhouse Studio next week when Harlow's acclaimed inclusive performing arts group Razed Roof stage a dazzling new production of Billy Elliot.

The moving tale of a young boy's struggle to overcome bereavement, poverty and prejudice to realise his dream of a successful career as a dancer was set against the emotive and divisive backdrop of the 1984 miners' strike for the successful film.

The film has since made the transition to the stage as a hit West End musical with music by Sir Elton John, but now Harlow theatregoers have an opportunity to enjoy an exciting and unique dramatic interpretation of the film.

The 40-strong theatre group behind the new adaptation – the cast of which includes young people with and without disabilities and learning difficulties – was set up in 2004, springing from work carried out by the Community Arts Group at Harlow College.

Over the past six years it has built a reputation for staging uplifting and imaginative entertainment while providing company members with invaluable theatre skills training and boosting their social skills and confidence.

Razed Roof artistic director Annette Lidster, a qualified teacher who has worked extensively in secondary and further education in Harlow, explained the group's ethos.

"We believe that the performing arts provide opportunities to improve the quality of life for everyone involved," she said. "This version of Billy Elliot is fully approved by playwright Lee Hall and gives everyone involved the opportunity to play an important part in the production.

"Where we have a main performer with learning difficulties, he or she is supported throughout the performance by other students."

● Billy Elliot opens at The Playhouse Studio on Thursday, March 4 for a two-night run. Evening performances start at 7.30pm, with a 2pm matinee on the Thursday. Tickets cost £8 (£5 concessions) from (01279) 431945.

Youngsters put through their paces at auditions

SCORES of young dancers pirouetted into The Playhouse on Thursday to audition for parts in the theatre's forthcoming production of The Wizard Of Oz.

Those tasting success in the dance try-outs will take to the stage alongside comedian Joe Pasquale and Dani Harmer, star of smash-hit CBBC show Tracy Beaker, when the show begins a six-night run on April 13.

The production is being put together by New World Productions, the company behind last year's successful pantomime. Producer Gary Telfer said: "We're really looking forward to coming back to the area with this fantastic Easter show."

"I spoke to Joe Pasquale and Dani Harmer recently and they're both very excited to be coming to the Harlow Playhouse."

Trek trilogy treat for film festival

TREKKIES can boldly go to The Playhouse next week for a triple bill of Star Trek movies as the theatre hosts its annual celebration of all things celluloid.

This year's Film Fling also features a Buster Keaton silent classic, a hair-raising singalong and a brand new big-screen outing for a timeless literary hero.

The week kicks off on Wednesday with screenings of Guy Ritchie's Oscar-nominated reinvention of Arthur Conan Doyle's detective Sherlock Holmes at 3.30pm and 7.30pm.

On Thursday there's a rare opportunity to experience Buster Keaton's silent slapstick masterpiece Steamboat Bill Jr. on the big screen. The 7.30pm screening will be enhanced with a live piano accompaniment from local musician Chris Redman.

Fancy dress is encouraged for Friday's showing of Sing-a-Long-a-Hairspray starting at 7.30pm and the film festival reaches warp speed on Saturday with a triple bill of Star Trek films - Star Trek II: The Wrath of Khan at 1.30pm, Star Trek IV: The Voyage Home at 4.30pm and last year's summer blockbuster Star Trek at 7.30pm.

Three Darths Collectibles and Marquee Models, both based in Harlow's Harvey Centre, will be selling Star Trek merchandise between the screenings.

Tickets for all films during the week (with the exception of Sing-a-Long-a-Hairspray) are £5 (£4 concessions) and can be purchased from the box office on (01279) 431945 or online at www.playhouseharlow.com.

>>>THE LOVELY BONES Cutting back and forth between the real world and a heavenly limbo, The Lovely Bones details the efforts of a murdered 14-year-old schoolgirl (Saoirse Ronan) who helps her grieving father (Mark Wahlberg) apprehend her killer from beyond the grave.

>>>PERCY JACKSON & THE LIGHTNING THIEF Chris Columbus directs the big-screen big budget version of the first of five books by Rick Riordan. High school student Percy Jackson (Logan Lerman) embarks on a quest to the underworld when discovers he is the son of Poseidon (Kevin McKidd). Columbus doesn't let the effects overwhelm the storytelling, although it's more of a stretch than a squeeze to fill the rollicking two hours.

>>>VALENTINE'S DAY Julia Roberts, Jessica Alba, Bradley Cooper, Jamie Foxx, Jennifer Garner, Anne Hathaway, Ashton Kutcher and Shirley MacLaine are among the stars in Gary Marshall's sugar-coated tale of romance and heartbreak in Los Angeles. Marshall's film runs the risk of being little more than cinematic candy floss, however, there are some big laughs and eye-catching performances from a stellar cast, who appear to be having a ball.

>>>THE PRINCESS AND THE FROG Disney breaks with tradition and casts its first ever African-American princess in this enchanting reworking of the Grimm brothers' fairytale, set in New Orleans around the time of the First World War. Tiana (voiced by Anika Noni Rose) is turned into a frog after kissing a smooth-talking amphibian, and has to embark on a perilous quest to get herself turned back into a human.

>>>THE WOLFMAN Almost 70 years after the original film was made, the furry beast runs free again in director Joe Johnston's remake, starring Benicio Del Toro, Emily Blunt and Sir Anthony Hopkins. A man (Del Toro) returns to his homeland to help search for his missing brother but becomes embroiled in a horrifying mystery that has haunted the village of Blackmoor.

>>>AVATAR (3D) Winner of two Golden Globes, James Cameron's special effects-laden blockbuster pushes the boundaries of big-screen technology.

>>>ASTRO BOY The iconic figure of Astro Boy takes flight in a new computer-animated adventure directed by David Bowers, with a storyline that puts a futuristic spin on the classic tale of Pinocchio.

>>>ALVIN AND THE CHIPMUNKS: THE SQUEAKQUEL The diminutive trio meet their match in three feisty females.

>>>kids' club

>>>WHERE THE WILD THINGS ARE Director Wes Anderson brings his offbeat and distinctly adult sensibilities to bear on Roald Dahl's classic children's story, with lead voices from George Clooney and Meryl Streep. The stop-motion animation is visually impressive but it's a film you admire and marvel at rather than unreservedly love.

>>>UP (2D) Airborne adventure about a cranky old man who ties thousands of balloons to his home to fulfill his lifelong dream of seeing the wilds of South America and an excitable young boy who accompanies him as a stowaway.

>>>PLANET 51 The computer-animated comedy unfolds on a world far from ours where little green men, women and child live in domestic bliss. But the crash-landing of a dim-witted American astronaut (voiced by Dwayne "The Rock" Johnson) causes chaos.

PARIS: The city of romantic overtures, fine cuisine, sartorial elegance, and crunching car chases along the Avenue des Champs-Élysées.

Director Pierre Morel returns to the scene of previous cinematic crimes for this explosive tour of the capital in the company of two mismatched American agents – played by John Travolta and Jonathan Rhys Meyers – on a quest to dismantle a terrorist cell.

Government agent James Reese (Rhys Meyers) is desperate to impress the powers-that-be and graduate from his current position as an ambassadorial aide.

He gets his chance when he is asked to help Charlie Wax (Travolta) pass through Parisian customs and complete his secret anti-terrorism peace mission.

Unexpectedly partnered with a

FROM PARIS WITH LOVE certificate 15 1h32m

fast-talking stranger who turns out to be a gun-toting lunatic, Reese struggles to understand what his role in the mission might be as Wax shoots anyone and everyone in his path.

In the process, Reese acquires a vase full of cocaine and an incredibly tall tale to impart to his doting, seamstress girlfriend Carolina (Kasia Smutniak).

From Paris With Love is nonsense from lacklustre start to pyrotechnic laden finish, hinging weakly on the non-existent chemistry between the two male leads.

Buddy movies demand sharp comic timing and a clearly defined narrative arc for the characters from distrust and irritation to mutual admiration.

Morel's film has none of these qualities, leaving Travolta to blast each location to smithereens as a spectacularly wooden Rhys Meyers pouts in the background.

Ironically, it is Travolta's voracious scenery-chewing and wide-eyed ravings which turn out to be the film's guilty pleasure. And in a cute nod to former glories, his remarkably athletic agent also gets to share his love of the local gastronomic delights.

"Here, the locals call my vice a Royale with cheese," he grins, barely resisting an urge to wink playfully at the camera.

Rhys Meyers fails to kindle a single spark of sexual attraction to Smutniak and his pivotal scene, a heartfelt monologue about the power of love, is utterly excruciating.

Our au revoir to James and Charlie cannot come soon enough.

THE CRAZIES certificate 15 1h41m

A cosy Midwestern town, population 1,260 and rapidly depleting, is the pleasantly green and tranquil setting for this bloodthirsty apocalypse.

The film opens with a raging inferno sweeping through the quaint community of Ogden Marsh, then rewinds to two days before to meet Sheriff David Dutton (Timothy Olyphant), who presides over the God-fearing residents with his deputy, Russell (Joe Anderson).

An unfortunate incident on the baseball field casts a dark shadow over the picture postcard town, but this is just the start of the nightmare. Family man Bill Farnum (Brett Rickaby) commits a horrific act against his wife Deandra (Christie Lynn Smith) and child (Preston Bailey) and is thrown in the police cells.

The change in the temperament of friends and neighbours troubles Dutton, and he discovers the answer in the local creek which feeds into the water supply.

Before he can contain the problem, masked soldiers storm the stricken town, identifying those lucky few who have not yet contracted the illness.

Dutton is ushered towards transportation from the outbreak but he refuses to leave behind his wife and embarks on a suicide rescue mission, with Russell covering his back.

The denouement veers wildly towards implausibility to deliver an almighty bang, but does neatly set up a potential sequel.

Kings Group Church Langley is going from strength to strength

The following are some of the testimonials from customers of Kings Group Church Langley estate agents.

"Kings: Keen, Impressive, No-nonsense, Genuine Superstars. Ben, you and your team worked so hard for me from start to finish. Moving is such a stressful time but you guys made things so much easier by dealing with all the stuff that goes with buying and selling a house. I just sat back enjoyed my holiday and left it in your capable hands. I always recommend you to my friends and, to be honest, anyone I come across who is looking to move. You are all driven by success and that's why you stand above the rest. A huge thank you to you all. We all have a dream and it's thanks to you I'm living in mine."

Ms D Foster
(bought in Potter Street area)

"I purchased my property through Kings, and couldn't have asked for a better team to look after me. Ben and his team put customer service at the heart of what they do to ensure my move was as stress-free as possible. The team were extremely proactive throughout the entire process in order to try to move things along as quickly and as smoothly as possible. I was kept updated every step of the way and didn't need to chase them at all."

Miss Tulley
(bought in Church Langley area)

"We have been very impressed with Kings Group Church Langley, having had our house on the market before with another estate agent and not getting much interest. Kings suggested a price that we were happy with and found a buyer straight away."

Unfortunately this sale fell through but they were still confident of finding another buyer and managed to do this with minimum fuss. We were very impressed with Kings' representative who basically dealt with everything so we had very little to worry about."

Mr LeDain & Miss Hart
(sold in Church Langley area)

"I cannot fault how Ben and his team operated in the selling of our property and the buying of our new home. Our house was sold within days of the team marketing it and although unfortunately that buyer fell through they quickly turned it round and it was sold again a few weeks later. We were always involved and kept up to date on everything, all the way through to completion. Ben was the first to phone me and congratulate us on our new home and if we ever required an estate agent again, Kings would be the only people I would call. We still pop in and see Ben and the team and they are always there with a warm welcome. We have and will keep highly recommending anyone to use Kings if they are going to be selling or buying a property."

Win your mortgage paid for a year at Intercounty

BUYERS and sellers with estate agent Intercounty could have their mortgage paid for a year in a new competition launched this month.

The company has 25 branches across the country, including offices in Old Harlow, Sawbridgeworth, Bishop's Stortford, Dunmow, Stansted and Saffron Walden. Bob Jones, Intercounty manager at the North Street branch in Bishop's Stortford, said: "It's an exciting time for us as a business and we are really pleased to be launching this competition."

"We look forward to the lucky winner having their mortgage paid for a whole year."

The prize is on offer to anyone who buys or sells a property through Intercounty before the end of June 2010.

The lucky winner will be announced at the end of June.

Managing director Greg Young said: "At Intercounty we do estate agency differently. We're good at putting a smile on people's faces and what better way to do that than by paying someone's mortgage for a whole 12 months."

To find out more about the competition, visit the Intercounty website at www.intercounty.co.uk. Terms and conditions apply.

New star on the high street

The Citroen DS3 is stylish, well-equipped and luxurious. Patterned carpets, coloured seat inlays and dashes of chrome add to the overall upmarket feel. RICHARD M HAMMOND takes it for a test drive

It has been some time since Mini could claim to have the market cornered for trendy city cars boasting both style and substance. But the fashionable high streets currently dominated by the ever-expanding Mini range, the Alfa Romeo Mito and the smaller but all-conquering Fiat 500 are about to become even more lively with the arrival of the Citroen DS3.

When a production model resembles its concept predecessor so closely it is a sure sign that the manufacturer is about to try something new. With the C3 updated for the new decade and the recent arrival of the practical but creatively styled C3 Picasso taking care of the volume compact hatchback and compact MPV sector, the DS3 is a new attempt to break into the premium compact hatchback sector with a stylish, well-equipped and generally more luxurious model.

At first glance, Citroen appears to have cracked it. There are bold styling gestures that may or may not be immediately liked and that may or may not grow on car-buyers over time, but as a package the DS3 is every bit as attractive and arguably more forward thinking in its design than its rivals.

Unlike some of the competition the DS3 is not a modern take on past glories. Attempting to be a design classic in its own right, the model can hardly be accused of trading on its name either. Car historians and Citroen fanatics may raise an eyebrow at the rekindling of the DS moniker, but the French manufacturer is not claiming the DS3 is a modern interpretation of the fifties style icon. The DS4 and DS5 models that will follow shortly will make no such claims, either. The intention of the DS sub-brand is visible in the lack of Citroen chevrons on the rear. A special DS badge takes their place, marking the DS line-up out as a range in its own right. That said, the visual similarities to the Citroen C3 are present inside and out, but DS3 customers can expect a far greater degree of customisation from their cars. Citroen has retooled its factory especially to deal with two-tone bodywork and roof decals of the DS3.

The basic layout of the DS3 interior is familiar from the standard new C3, but there are more than enough additions to make the luxury model feel just that.

Dashboards can be specified in a range of colours and shapely interior panels are soft to touch and lined with more exuberant materials. Patterned carpets, coloured seat inlays and dashes of chrome add to the upmarket feel. Recessed dials are complimented with internally lit needles that jump into life when the engine starts.

With the range-topping 154bhp turbocharged petrol engine drivers will also be met with an appealing, sporty exhaust note. The engine, the result of a partnership between Peugeot, Citroen and BMW, proves well-suited to the DS3 in 150 THP form, making the car feel far keener than the Citroen C3. The crisp gear change and responsive, well-weighted steering help, too. The suspension is firm and the DS3 can be chucked into bends with confidence, but it's also damped to deal with rougher surfaces even on the DSport model's 17-inch wheels. As a compromise between city driving and the open road it's hard to fault.

The DS3 shouldn't prove a struggle to live with, either. The boot is very accommodating and, while the three-door body naturally restricts access to the rear, it will suit for two adult over shorter journeys.

Three trim levels – DSport, DStyle, DSign – are available dependant on engine choice and there are enough customisation opportunities to give the DS3 a truly bespoke feel. A 99g/km CO₂ emitting model should also attract attention from fashionable city car fans. Tax-free status could be as appealing as the floating roof and LED running lamps.

It is more than adequately equipped to tackle the competitive but lucrative premium small car segment in the styling stakes, but the DS3's enjoyable driving experience and neat packaging give it more than just high street chic.

Epping Forest district is an area of great contrasts, from its southern boundary with Greater London, stretching northwards into the heart of rural Essex. Here, you'll find scope to further your career in a variety of different roles, each offering the rewards you'd expect from an organisation that values its people and their contribution.

To find out more about our range of jobs and benefits, go to www.eppingforestdc.gov.uk/jobs

Based in our Civic Offices in Epping, our Benefits Division is a positive and progressive place to work. In these challenging times we are committed to providing a quality service and to reducing the level of fraud and error in the Housing and Council Tax Benefit schemes. We are looking to recruit enthusiastic and motivated people to the following posts.

INVESTIGATION OFFICER Ref: FBE/23

Grade 6, salary: £23,019 - £25,444 per annum inclusive of London Inner Fringe Allowance (rising a further increment after five years' service)

A vacancy has arisen for an experienced and professional Investigation Officer to investigate suspected fraudulent Housing and Council Tax Benefit claims. Working as part of a small team, you will undertake the detailed analysis and investigation of cases, report on findings, interview under caution and appear at court as required. You should have a good knowledge of the Housing and Council Tax Benefit schemes and be accredited in PINS. You should excel under pressure and be comfortable in investigating complex frauds. If you are up to the challenge, we would like to hear from you.

You should have a full driving licence (preferably clean) and the use of your own vehicle is essential. An essential car user allowance will be paid although there is the option of a lease car after six months service.

For an informal discussion about this post, please contact Fred Shelton, Investigations and Interventions Manager, on 01992 564170.

BENEFITS ASSISTANT Ref: FBE/19

You will deal with customer enquiries and assess entitlement in the less complex cases. You should have experience of dealing with the public in a service-based environment, preferably in a Local Authority, the DWP or the Pension Service. Some knowledge of the Housing and Council Tax Benefit schemes would be an advantage. This post will ideally suit someone who is keen to commence work in a benefit environment.

For an informal discussion about this post, please contact Julian Lewis, Benefits Manager, on 01992 564241.

Heating & PlumbingBOILER SCRAPPAGE SCHEME

The Government Boiler Scrappage Scheme was launched in January 2010, enabling homeowners in England to receive a £400 discount towards the supply-and-fit of new A-rated boiler (or similar) when scrapping their old boiler unit. This is subject to the homeowner's existing boiler meeting the criteria set out in the scheme, which is designed to encourage homeowners to upgrade the energy performance of their heating and hot water systems.

If your existing boiler unit is G-rated (the lowest efficiency level), it is likely you will be eligible for a £400 sum towards a new higher rated boiler or renewable heat unit. The majority of homeowners aren't aware of the age or condition of their existing boiler, yet the boiler is one of the most important installations in the home. It's likely that your current boiler is out-of-guarantee, inefficient and costing you extra money to run. New, efficient boilers cost less to run, providing you with the temperatures you want and is covered under the supplier's guarantee. Families and homeowners can access up-to-date information on the UK's first-ever boiler trade-in initiative at www.boilerscrappagescheme.co.uk. British Gas can identify your boiler model and efficiency rating for qualification purposes. Call 0845 074 5998 for a free, no obligation quote or visit www.boilerscrappagescheme.co.uk

Trio of sports stars selected as Essex ambassadors

THREE sports stars have been named as sports ambassadors for Essex – and scooped £6,500 windfalls.

Paralympian Anne Wafula-Strike, judo star Faith Pitman and marksman James Huckle, were recognised at a special event held at the Radisson Blu Hotel at Stansted Airport.

Each athlete collected a £6,500 bursary to help with the costs of training and competing at the highest level.

The Team Essex Ambassador programme provided by Essex County Council, funds top tier athletes who have been identified by their national governing body of sport as having the potential to compete at the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games.

All three athletes have represented Great Britain.

Huckle, from Old Harlow, hopes to strike gold at the Commonwealth Games in India later this year.

Pitman is preparing for the European Judo Championships in Austria in April.

Part of an ambassador's role is to contribute time to visit schools and community projects, inspiring young people across the county to become involved in sport.

Rams boss: Don't show any Mersea

Harlow 24, Mersea 12

RFU London & SE,
division two north east

RAMS director of rugby Lee Harron has urged his side to stop falling asleep – and start ripping teams apart!

Harlow have won five out of six matches in 2010 and the latest victory at home to basement side Mersea Island virtually banished any relegation fears.

But Harron has warned his side against any complacency. He said: "We have got five games left against tough teams and if we can win two we can go up the table."

"I want us to get consistency for next season. We can play really well against top teams and then play very badly against lower teams. I want us to stop falling asleep at the start of the second halves in games and for us to build three or four phases. If we do that we can rip teams apart."

The win at the weekend enabled Harlow to leapfrog Ipswich to go into 8th spot in the 12-team table, seven points ahead of 10th-placed Norwich. Three teams are expected to go down.

Woodington unavailable, Lee Harron moved back to his usual position at scrum-half.

Harlow resisted early Mersea pressure before the hosts went ahead on five minutes.

The Rams gained possession at a breakdown and a backs move resulted in Rob Mackie dashing over for an excellent try. James McFerran kicked the conversion.

The lead was stretched on 22 minutes. Good home line-out ball preceded a rolling maul from which Paul Prindiville powered over for a try.

Harlow's third try came on 35 minutes when fly-half Francis Brown intercepted a stray pass and ran 35 yards to touch down under the posts.

McFerran kicked the conversion and Harlow led 19-0 at the break.

Harlow had a disastrous start to the second half. From the Rams kick-off, a Mersea attack caught the home defence napping and their number eight scored a try which was converted.

Within two minutes, a careless home pass from Harlow was intercepted and a 45-yard break resulted in an unconverted try, cutting the Rams' lead to 19-12.

The result was not sealed until the 68th minute. Harlow set up a good rolling maul from a line-out deep in the Mersea half, before Harron broke and dummied one defender before passing to Will Grimley who burst over for a try in the corner.

Harron added: "After defending really well in the first five minutes we played really well in the first half and could have scored two more tries. We then defended poorly at the start of the second half and guys were not making tackles they should have been."

HARLOW: Mackie, Hockley, L. Bowering, McFerran, Grimley (Banks 72), Brown, Harron, Branch (Lane 72), Wilkins, Prindiville, Palmer, Eynon, Roberts (Blackwell 72), M. Bowering, Claridge.

Rushton at the double

A BRACE from Carolyn Rushton was crucial as Harlow sneaked a win at Havering II.

Harlow went a goal behind in the first five minutes before the visitors drew level shortly after.

Harlow captain Emma Tweddle linked down the right with Anna Ferdinando before unleashing an unstoppable shot.

The visitors went further ahead on 17 minutes. Rushton's solo run ended with her netting and Harlow led 2-1 at half-time.

Harlow began to dominate the midfield in the second half.

Harlow went 3-1 up when Georgina Esterhuysen slotted in a rebound from Rushton's initial effort.

With 10 minutes left, the hosts scored from a penalty flick but Harlow were not to be denied.

Good work from Sue Douglas and Alex Figg on the left created space for Rushton to exploit and she burst into the circle to fire home her second.

Havering converted a penalty corner with three minutes remaining to leave Harlow with an uncomfortable last period but the visitors held out.

HARLOW (squad): Rowley, Shearman-Slack, Trimble, Green, Douglas, Tweddle, Rushton, Ferdinando, Esterhuysen, Amos, Ashford, Figg.

Alicia shines with fifth place

ALICIA McArdell's continuing improvement was shown when she claimed an excellent fifth spot in the Chingford Cross Country League U-13 3km race.

The 12-year-old Mark Hall School pupil got off to a great start running alongside Georgia Tuckfield, the South of England Inter County champion.

After 1km, Georgia broke away but Alicia battled on well to clock 14 mins 25 secs.

In the U-15 girls 4.5km race, Passmores School student Isobel Moss (14) came third in 20:46 and Sam Benge was 6th in the U-17 4.5km race in 17:37.

Perry Rowan (13) a Burnt Mill School student, was 4th (13:22) in the U-13 3km race which also saw Harlow's Ben Pattison finish 15th (15:05).

Ladies remain two clear at the top

HARLOW Ladies are top of the RFU Women's League division two SE East after a 3-0 win at Beckenham in Kent on Sunday.

The Rams (160 points difference) remain ahead of second-placed Old Albanian (158 points).

Both teams have gained 36 points from their matches.

The game in Kent was marked by very muddy conditions which made fluent moves difficult.

The game's sole score came two minutes before the break through an Emily Gizzi penalty.

Beckenham exerted strong pressure towards the end in the visitors' 22 but Harlow resisted this pressure.

First and second for Bradley in Trophy Gala

HARLOW Penguins swimmer Bradley Veitch claimed a first and second spot at the Sid Barrett Trophy Gala.

In the U-11 boys category, Bradley was first in the 50m breaststroke and second in the 50m freestyle.

The event at Enfield saw Penguins come sixth out of eight competing clubs but the Harlow swimmers are certainly closing the gap on other swimmers.

There were also plenty of good relay and individual performances.

The boys U-11s team came third in both the medley and freestyle relays.

Girls captain Jasmine Hind finished second in the U-13 50m freestyle, while boys captain Mason Arnold was second in the U-13 boys 50m freestyle and third in the 50m backstroke.

Filip Kusnir came second in the 9-year-old 25m backstroke and second in the 25m breaststroke.

Kate Henshall, Celeste Andrew, Elizabeth Hunt, Ricky Hicks, Mitchell Hicks, Charlotte Pickering, Oliver Oakes, Liam Jones, Kelly Brace and Jacob Dick were all representing the Penguins for the first time.

Harlow Penguins spokeswoman Sally Mackown said: "This was a fantastic start to the gala season and Penguins have some promising youngsters for the future."

Osagie qualifies for Great Britain senior debut

He added: "It will be amazing to race out there. Racing indoors is always different to outdoors, it's all about tactics."

"I've been training really hard. I've been strong and focused. I've got a much more mature attitude now."

Osagie has to juggle his training with his studies at St Mary's College and spoke of the difficulty of combining the two.

"My mum and dad have always told me that if you get your university work done then the racing will take care of itself. The tutors at St Mary's have been helping me a lot and trying to ease my workload."

"I've got a much more mature attitude now. Sure you still go out to the cinema and nightclubs and stuff, but now I'm just more mature about it all."

"I'm really chuffed all the training's paying off now. We've tried all sorts of things at St Mary's including a special altitude trainer and doing lots of work on nutrition and lab tests."

Osagie said this result had given him renewed confidence for the outdoor season – and he dreams of a place in the GB team for the London 2012 Olympics.

"It's something I've always dreamt of getting a medal at London 2012 – I want to be in that team," he added.

Moot House upset leaders Admiral

MOOT House have had better seasons but will have taken great pleasure in holding leaders White Admiral to a 4-4 draw in the Harlow & District Premier Darts League.

Second-placed Servo Link lost the opportunity to make ground on the leaders, losing their first match of the season 3-5 at Staple Tye Colts.

Third-placed Young Pretenders lost 3-5 at home to Tye Green Whites. Whites' Mick Rout notched his second 180 of the season.

Crusader held Moot House Arrows to a 4-4 draw in spite of 180s for Moot from Ron Green, Damian Green and Mick Adderson. Father and son Ron and Damian now have eleven 180s between them this season.

Other results:- TG Foxes 7, Golden Swift 1; Harlow Hawks 5, UG Social 3; Colt Hatch 4, Stow Snooker 4.

Loss for Tye Green in English National Fours

TYE Green IBC's team of Mo Crocker, Harry Wood, Roy Buckner and Pat Watford went out in the last 16 of the English National Fours competition.

The Harlow team had beaten four from Mid Gloucestershire 32-18 in the last 32 but missed out on a quarter-final place after losing 22-13 against a team from Hounslow IBC in West London.

In the English National Over 60s

Indoor bowls

Singles, Tye Green's Harry Wood beat club-mate Pat Watford in the area final and went through to the national finals where he will play Paul Vamvacopolous from Wey Valley.

In the English National Singles competition, Tye Green's Steve Mitchinson lost 21-

15 to John Tully (Barking) in the area final. Mitchinson and club-mate Barry O'Connor have also reached the area final in the English National Pairs.

Tye Green played Falcon in the Essex County League and had a resounding 12-1 win. There were victories for the rinks skipped by Mitchinson, Steve Tucker, Paul Smyth, Richard Haley and John Anderson with the only loss on the Watford rink.

Late goals hurt battling Hawks

Brentwood Tn 2, Harlow Tn 0
Ryman League division one north

TWO goals in the final seven minutes denied Harlow Town what would have been a hard-fought draw against mid-table Brentwood Town.

But prior to the goals the Hawks owed much to a fantastic display from goal-keeper James Hasell on Saturday.

The stopper, who returned to Harlow a fortnight ago after leaving Brentwood, made at least three outstanding stops to keep his side level against his old side.

Hawks gave a debut to former player Wayne Cort in attack, but he looked in poor condition and was substituted at half-time.

The Brentwood side contained three ex-Hawks in midfielders Jason Mason and Ross Parmenter, plus winger Dee Okojie.

It was Harlow's sixth successive defeat, although five of those games have been away.

The Hawks have only scored two goals in those games, one of which was a penalty.

Brentwood started well and Hasell made a

ON FORM: Goalkeeper James Hasell made three outstanding saves against his old side but Brentwood won through two late goals good save from Brentwood striker Gary Bowes on 12 minutes. He scooped the rebound over the bar from close range.

The first time the Hawks came close was in the 26th minute when Brentwood keeper Nicky Pyne handled outside the penalty area.

Spencer Knight took the subsequent free-kick to the far post but Pyne pushed the ball to safety.

Just past the half-hour mark Okojie's long-distance drive was saved by Hasell.

Near the break Pyne turned a Jose Espinozu shot around a post.

In the second half, the muddy conditions worsened and on 68 minutes Mason's free-kick was well tipped away by the stretching Hasell.

Moments later, Harlow sub Julian Edwards broke but was denied by a last-ditch tackle from Brentwood centre-half Reiss Noel.

The hosts stepped up a gear and Hasell made three excellent saves in a six-minute spell.

The first was from Kris Lee's 10-yard shot but Hasell superbly pushed the ball away from danger.

Minutes later Parmenter's cross from the right was headed goalwards by Lee but Hasell made a fantastic one-handed stop.

Then on 77 minutes, Piers Wixon's close-range shot which Hasell somehow cleared.

But the deadlock was finally broken on 82 minutes when Wixon's left-wing cross was met low by the unmarked Darren Ebbsworth who guided the ball into the top left corner from 18 yards.

Joe Stevens hit the second on 89 minutes. Jason Walker fouled Lee and Mason's free-kick was cleared to Stevens who drilled a low shot into the net.

Hawks skipper Ryan Maxwell's late free-kick flew over the bar as Harlow were denied a consolation.

Hawks boss Marvin Samuel said: "We did not impose ourselves enough on the game. We were not physical enough. James Hasell Striker Gavin Taylor has also been freed. He has gone to Ilford.

Harlow have rearranged the Heybridge Swifts game, which was postponed due to a waterlogged pitch on Tuesday, for Tuesday March 23 (7.45pm KO). The Maldon home match will now be played on Tuesday March 30 at 7.45pm.

Player-coach has double vision for Harlow

SHAB Niazi is confident that Harlow Hawks Basketball Club's first and second teams can win both their big games this weekend.

The first team host Southend Scorpions in the last 16 of the National Founders Cup this Saturday (3.20pm) at the Sportcentre) before the second team take on Aylesbury Dux in the Herts County Plate Final at Birchwood Leisure Centre in Hatfield on Sunday at 4.20pm.

Basketball

Hawks player-coach Niazi, right, said of the Scorpions: "We will not be underestimating them but if we play to the level we have been playing in the National Founders Cup we should get through."

"We should be at full strength. Mike Freeman [a forward] was a bit rusty in our last game having missed two matches [due to the birth of a son] but he should be okay."

He added: "We hope to have a big crowd for this. Our juniors and their parents will be there and we have sent lots of flyers out." The second team have only lost three league games in only their second year of competition.

Niazi added: "If they stick to the way they have been playing they should win. They have really come on well this year after losing a lot last year."

Doors will open for spectators at 3pm on Saturday (adults £2, children £1).

'Samuel's not getting sacked'

TOM Cunningham has scotched rumours that player-boss Marvin Samuel will be sacked if Harlow Town lose their home game against VCD Athletic this Saturday.

Games are running out and Samuel desperately needs some wins to bolster his position with his team 15 points adrift of safety.

Hawks co-owner Cunningham said: "There is no truth whatsoever in that rumour.

"He is one of my ex-players and I want to give him a chance."

Samuel, who has four points from 10 games in charge, said: "We are in a results business and what will be, will be. I mainly think about what I have to do.

"I am not the best person in the world but I do not think many people in their first job could have done better with the problems caused by the bad weather."

Samuel has signed three new players on the recommendation of his assistant Stirling Clasford. They are ex-Southend United striker Adriano Lawson, plus holding midfielder player Cory Barnes and centre-half Chisom Diorgu.

Samuel said: "Stirling knows them and one of them could be in the squad for this Saturday. I may make two other changes for Saturday's game.

"VCD Athletic are beatable and East Thurrock [at home on Tuesday] will be tough."

Osagie qualifies for Great Britain senior debut

ANDREW Osagie took a huge step forward in his promising athletics career by qualifying for the 800m at next month's World Indoor Athletics Championships in Doha, Qatar.

In finishing third in his race while up against top international opponents, Osagie, of Northbrooks, Harlow, beat his personal best time in front of a capacity crowd at the National Indoor Arena in Birmingham on Saturday.

Osagie, who celebrated his 22nd birthday the day before the race, turned in his most outstanding performance to date at the AVIVA Grand Prix, crossing the finish line in 1 min 47.71 secs, just behind winner Marcin Lewandowski (1:47.50) of Poland and Kenya's Richard Kiplagat (1:47.55).

As soon as he crossed the line and saw his time Osagie danced a Usain Bolt-like jig of joy. He was then interviewed track side live on BBC Television, which was covering the event.

He later received treatment for a nasty gash on his shin caused by a runner in front of him, but the pain was dulled by his superb showing.

Speaking after the race, Osagie, who won the 800m at the British Championships the week before in Sheffield, told the Star: "This is a massive milestone in my life and it's definitely my biggest event yet indoors.

"I got loads of good luck messages from my team-mates at Harlow Athletic Club, wishing me all the best and it's been great to have that.

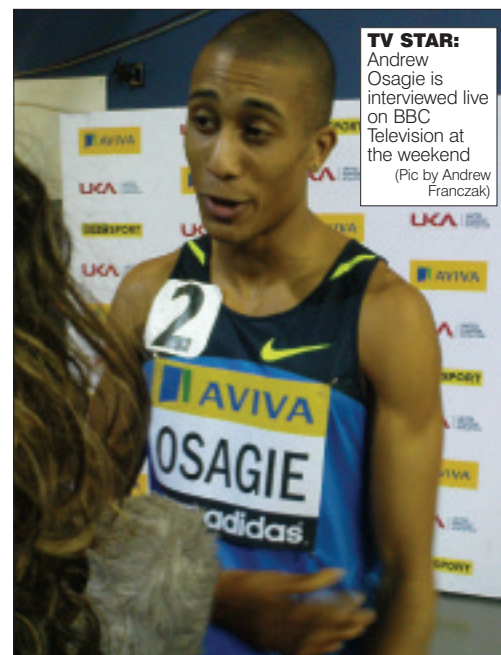

"I've had lots of injuries in the past but now it's all coming together - it's been a long time coming!

"I always knew I had this sort of performance in me, I just went out attacking from the first lap and it paid off.

"Everyone's talking about how competing in Doha will be a good experience for me, but I'm always looking to win medals.

"I suppose I've got to be realistic though, but I'll be chasing a place in the final."

New skipper McNally targets promotion

KIWI all-rounder Jason McNally has been appointed Harlow Cricket Club's first team skipper.

Former Essex bowler Andrew McGarry (28) has also joined the Shepherd Neame Essex League division two club.

McGarry will help coach the Marigolds' club's junior section.

All-rounder Ahmed Khwaja has also joined from division three club Old Brentwoods.

McNally joined Harlow last year and made telling contributions with the bat in the middle order and the ball.

McGarry's pace and accuracy will give Harlow's bowling attack penetration while Khwaja is a gifted batsman who scored more than 1,000 runs for Old Brentwoods last year. He can also bowl spin.

McNally has high hopes. He said: "I will be disappointed if we do not get promotion this time.

"I will be looking to use Andrew McGarry in the middle of the innings when he can keep things tight and drop it on a sixpence.

"He will bring a lot to our team and will also be the quickest bowler in the league. I have either myself, Luke Monger or Luke Heskett to open the bowling."

He added: "Khwaja scored 1,000 runs including five centuries [in 2009] and if you score that number of runs you can do well at a higher level. If he gets 25 per cent less than that for us, that will be good."

McNally is also looking for more from the club's existing players.

He said: "It gives competition for places and I will be looking for Rehman Ahmed and Nick Butler to score centuries this year.

"We got bowled out too often last year for low scores. I will also be looking to play a colt each week in the first team and this will help the club in the long term."

Commenting on his decision to step down as captain after three years, Butler said: "I had taken the club as far as I thought I was able to. So, I discussed the 2010 season with Jason and it was clear he was the man to take the club forward.

"He has lots of fresh ideas as well as experience of playing and coaching at a very good standard."
